An in-person orientation begins on August 21. An optional online preparation program called Insights is offered one week prior.

Course Enrollment / Registration

Students course preferences are gathered upon publication of courses and confirmed by orientation week. The first week of classes provides an add-drop opportunity.

For Law School exchange programs, no on-campus housing is available, students enrolling to only a few law classes through the university exchange may have access to campus housing. On-campus housing Office assists with locating housing for graduate and law students. We encourage students to arrive seven to ten days before orientation in order to find housing.

F-1 students are required to purchase university comprehensive health insurance. The cost for the 2015-16 year is $1,500.
